Teaching Parents Leadership, Excellence, and Advocacy

PLI is accepting applications

Parent Leadership Institute (PLI)

A grassroots education advocacy training program for parents. PLI utilizes the University of Georgia’s Fanning Institute Community Leadership Program curriculum as a core foundation of the training layered with education advocacy and school discipline reform tools.

Project teams implement a school-community project in their immediate school cluster designed to impact a feeder into the School to Prison Pipeline, ultimately improving the climate for learning in schools.

What Your Student/Parent Handbook Didn't Really Tell You ...reading between the lines

Highly interactive workshop designed to specifically to engage our community in understanding the links between student behavior, GCPS disciplinary policy, the loss of educational opportunity, and the juvenile/adult court system.

Has Your Student Received Suspension/Detention - Is It Time for an Intervention?

Which behaviors are more likely to result in disciplinary action or in low grades? Students removed by suspension are often those who need to be in school the most. Parent involvement is key! Learn how early interventions can keep your student on the right track.

Understanding the School to Prison Pipeline

A presentation and panel discussion led by the co-chairs of Gwinnett STOPP which provides a more detailed view of the School to Prison Pipeline (STPP) issue. The presentation includes details of the state, national and local data trends, interactive activities and audience questions. This workshop may be customized for your organization.

The workshops are free and designed to empower parents, care-givers and community members with information and tools to be better advocates for children. Contact us to schedule a workshop for your group.
